February 23, 2026

Hello 1st Grade Families!

This Thursday, February 26, we are inviting parents to share family traditions with our students. We encourage you to bring food, traditional clothing, a favorite read-aloud, pictures, or special objects that represent your traditions. Please reach out to your homeroom teacher if you are interested in participating.

Math News

In Math, this week your student is learning to measure and compare lengths. They use tools to find how long or tall something is from one end of it to the other end. At home, please help your student develop good measuring behaviors by asking questions about objects around the house. For example:

- "If we were going to measure this table, where would we start measuring?"
- "Where would we stop measuring?"
- "What do we call the space between the endpoints of the table?"

Literacy News

In Spanish, we will read two new family stories. We will practice reading comprehension and learn to retell a story, including all its elements (characters, settings, events, and lesson or message). In word study, we will work with verb endings –aría, -ería, -iría, –ara, -iera. At home, you can practice dividing words into syllables, and reading and writing sentences using words such as: hablar, hablaría, hablarían, comer, comería, comerías.

In ELA we are continuing to practice words with digraphs. Digraphs are two letters that make one sound. Keep practicing your heart words at home! In ARC we are continuing to write our Small Moments. Continue to talk to your student about feelings and the 5 senses.
